

THIRTEENTH YEAR.

EARLINGTON, HOPKINS COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, OCT. 16, 1902

NO. 42

OPERATORS PROPOSE THAT THE PRESIDENT APPOINT COMMISSION.

Will Refer All Questions at Issue Between Companies and Their Employees.

FINDING OF COMMISSION TO SETTLE FOR THREE YEARS.

Proposition Generally Regarded as Eminitely Fair. Mitchell Speechless.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—By authority of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, who with his partner, Mr. Robert Bacon, and Secretary Root, was in conference with President Roosevelt at the temporary White house tonight for an hour and a half, a statement was given out by Secretary Cortelyou, in which the presidents of the coal-carrying railroads and mine operators propose a commission of five persons to adjust the differences and settle the coal strike in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. The proposition is believed by the administration to be satisfactory to the miners, as it covers the proposition made by President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers' union, with additional conditions, which it is believed the miners will accept. The statement is as follows:

"Mr. Morgan came to Washington with his partner, Mr. Bacon, at the request of the coal companies, who desired that as a matter of courtesy their statement should be shown to the president before it was made public. Having been laid before the president by Mr. Morgan, it is now given to the press:

"To the public: The managers of the different coal properties comprising the anthracite coal fields with their position in the present strike to be understood, and, therefore, make the following statement of facts:

"There are in the anthracite region about seventy-five operating companies and firms, 147,000 miners and workmen of which 80,000 are under age, comprising some twenty nationalities and dialects.

"Of these workmen probably one-half belong to the United Mine Workers' union, of which Mr. John Mitchell is president. That organization was originally formed in the bituminous coal region, and thirty-fourth if its members are miners of bituminous coal, and bituminous coal is sold in active competition with anthracite coal. The remaining workmen in the anthracite field either belong to no union whatever, or do not belong to the Mine Workers' union.

"The present strike was declared by the miners' union on the 10th day of May, 1902. Since that time many workmen, not belonging to or not willing follow that organization were working about the mines. From 7,000 to 10,000 are now at work. Many more have wished to work, but have been prevented by a course of violence and intimidation toward those working and toward their families, accompanied by the destruction of properties and fear of death or bodily harm to every man who wishes to exercise his right to work.

"A schedule is annexed hereto showing some of the things done to create this reign of terror, and every instance stated can be verified by reference to officers of the law—civil and military—in the anthracite region. This violence has continued, and steadily increased, notwithstanding repeated disavows by Mr. Mitchell, and it is clear that he either cannot or will not prevent it, and that the rights of the other workmen cannot be protected under the supremacy of the Mine Workers' union.

"The coal companies believe that the wages paid in the coal regions are fair and full, and all that the business in its normal condition has been able to stand, if the capital invested is to have any reasonable return. The profits have been small, several of the companies have become bankrupt and been reorganized several times. Several have never paid dividends, not the dividends of the others have been a small return for the capital invested. It is not, however, the purpose of this statement to discuss this question. The undersigned are not, and never have been unwilling to submit all questions between them and their workmen to any fair tribunal for decision. They are not willing to enter into arbitration with the miners' union, an organization chiefly composed of men in a rival and competitive interest, and they are not willing to make any arrangement which will not secure to the men now working, and all now or hereafter wishing to work, whether they belong to the miners' union or not, the right and opportunity to work in safety and without personal insult or bodily harm to themselves or their families. For these reasons the arbitrations heretofore proposed have been declined.

"It will be remembered that at the conference in Washington, October 8, we made the following offer: That we would take up at each colliery a number of the questions proposed, and in the event of a failure to make satisfactory adjustment, the questions at issue to be submitted to the final decision of the judges of the court of commerce, in the city in which the colliery is located. This offer was made by us in good faith, and we desire here to re-affirm it.

"The coal companies realize that the urgent public need of coal and the apprehension of an inadequate supply for the approaching winter, call for an earnest effort to reach a practical conclusion which will result in an increased supply, and the presidents of the companies desire to make every effort to that end which does not involve the abandonment of the interests committed to their care, and the men who are working and seeking to work in their mines. This responsibility they must bear and meet as best they can.

"They, therefore, restate their position: That they are not discriminating against the United Mine Workers' union, but they insist that the miners' union shall not discriminate against or refuse to work with non-union men; that there shall be no restriction or deterioration in quantity or quality of work, and that owing to the varying physical condition of the anthracite mines each colliery is a problem by itself.

"We suggest a commission to be appointed by the president of the United States (if he is willing to perform that public service to whom shall be referred all questions at issue between the respective companies and their own employees, whether they belong to a union or not, but that decision of the commission shall be accepted by us.

"The commission to be constituted as follows:

"First—An officer in the engineer corps of either the military or naval service of the United States.

"Second—An expert mining engineer, experienced in the mining of coal and other minerals, and not in any way connected with coalmining properties, either anthracite or bituminous.

"Third—One of the judges of the United States courts of the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

"Fourth—A man of prominence, eminent as a sociologist.

"Fifth—A man who, by active participation in mining and selling coal, is familiar with the physical and commercial features of the business. It being the understanding that immediately upon the constitution of such commission in order that idleness and non-production may cease instantly, the miners will return to work and cease all interference with or persecution of any nonunion men who are working or who shall hereafter work. The finding of this commission shall fix the date when the same shall be effective, and shall govern the conditions of employment between the respective companies and their employees for a term of at least three years.

"George F. Bear, president Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron company; Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal company; Temple Iron company.

"E. B. Thomas, chairman Pennsylvania Coal company; Hillside Coal & Iron company.

"W. H. Truesdale, president Delaware, Lackawanna Railroad company.

"T. P. Fowler, president Scranton Coal company; Elk Hill Coal & Iron company.

ton Coal company; Elk Hill Coal & Iron company.

"R. M. Oliphant, president Delaware & Hudson company.

"Alfred Waters, president of the Lehigh Valley Coal company."

The note appended to the statement read:

"The schedule referred to in this statement was not brought from New York, as it had not been completed."

Mitchell Declines to Talk.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 14.—When President Mitchell was shown the plain bulletin that the operators had agreed to arbitrate he refused to make a statement tonight.

HAPPENINGS IN KENTUCKY.

Mrs. Rena Peters, the wealthiest woman in Washington county, died suddenly at her home near Macksville.

The Logan County bank building has been sold to parties who contemplate starting a national bank at Russellville.

Rev. Sam Jones' revival began at Paducah Wednesday at 7 o'clock p. m. Much good is expected of the meeting.

Heirs of Mrs. Fannie Speed have offered the M. E. church board of education $100,000 in compromise of the bequest of about $200,000.

Judge Tarvin instructed the Kenton county grand jury to investigate the coal situation to ascertain if there is not an unlawful combination to raise prices.

Steven A. Waller, the wealthy distiller at Glasgow, was seriously injured in a runaway accident Wednesday. One arm was broken and he was badly bruised on the head and legs.

Near Hickman Dr. C. R. Utley of Murray was found dead by the side of his buggy in the road. A pistol found by the side of the dead physician points either to suicide or murder.

There are five hundred students now matriculated at the Kentucky State College in Lexington, and the chapel is filled to its capacity. The college authorities are at a loss as to what provision to make for the 200 or 300 that come in each year after Christmas.

At Pembroke, Ky., Lloyd Nelson, a young farmer of Christian county, crazed by drink, went on a rampage near here and brained an aged negro woman with an axe. He then cut and stabbed Joseph Tandy, colored aged seventy, fatally wounding him. After terrorizing several families Nelson was arrested and taken to the Hopkinsville jail to escape a mob of several hundred negroes who threatened to lynch him.

At Maysville George Benz, a shoemaker, aged thirty, shot and killed Bob Owsley, aged twenty, the proprietor of a hotel and saloon. Both were married. Benz was shot twice, but was not seriously wounded. Benz came to Maysville and surrendered to the sheriff. Owsley lived three hours. The men quarreled over a drink. Owsley came from Mt. Carmel a few years ago.

WILL REJECT THE OPERATORS' PROPOSITION.

Scarcely a Hope That John Mitchell Will Permit His Men to Accept.

LEADER RESENTS BEING OVERLOOKED.

Would Have the Operators Make Their Propositions Direct to Him.

MORE TIME WILL BE CONSUMED TO CONSIDER.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 14.—There is a division among the strikers as to the arbitration plan proposed by the presidents of the coal companies but the indications are very strong that the proposition will be rejected by the strikers. Mitchell resents the proposition on the ground that it was not addressed directly to him and his union, and pretends to refer it all to the "position of the miners," but does not say a convention will be called to consider the proposition.

WHAT THE STRIKE IS ABOUT,

The Conditions Prevailing Before It Started and Demands Now Made by the Strikers.

(New York Tribune.)

The Miner's Work.—He drilled the hole in the coal seam, inserted the powder, fired the blast which knocks down the coal, then rested while his helper—the laborer hired by him, not by the mine operator—loaded the coal into the car.

The Miner's Hours.—In four to six hours he easily knocked down all the coal his helper could pick up in eight hours. He could keep two laborers going constantly if he liked, but the union frowns on this.

The Miner's Pay.—He was paid by the car, averaging about $1 a car. The usual day's work was six cars. Out of the $6 a day, gross earnings, he paid his helper $2, and also paid for his powder, fuses, wicks, etc. His net profits ranged from $60 to $100, and he could make twice as much by keeping two laborers busy instead of one.

The Laborer's Lot.—He did the hard work of lifting the coal and loading it into the cars. He was the employee of the miner, not of the mine operator or owner. He got only $2 to the miner's $4. He had to work two years in the mines as a laborer and pass an examination before he could get a miner's license. He was preparing to make a demand upon the miner for a more equitable share of the profits, when the miners precipitated this strike.

To refer it to the strikers would require at least two week's time.

A great many strikers think the proposition should have been accepted and the miners trust President Roosevelt to do the best he can under the conditions laid down by the coal road presidents. An argument was made by one miner today that Mr. Mitchell could not well afford to turn down the proposition after already offering to permit the President to select the members of the commission. He thought the President would appreciate the trust put in him and see that the miners had fair play. Others in the same class thought that much harm could be done by accepting the proposition, but that in the end much good would result.

There is still a third view held by miners and that is to refuse to accept the plan offered and make a counter proposition embodying some of the suggestions contained in the operators' offer.

Engineer's Pay.—He got from $40 to $80 a month for long hours but light work.

Breaker Boy's Work.—He picked out the impurities from the coal when it was broken up, and got 75 cents a day.

The Striker's Demands.—An increase of 20 percent to miners paid by the car-load or ton. A reduction of 30 percent in the time of men paid by the day, such as engineers, pumpmen, breaker boys, etc., meaning an eight hour workday. That 2,240 pounds shall constitute the ton on which the miner's pay is based, instead of 2,750 pounds, as in the past.

All these demands are for the benefit of the employees of the mine operators.

Nothing at all has been said for some time about increasing the wages or shortening the hours of the miners' employees, the mine laborers, who received only $2 out of the miner's $6.

What We Saw Sunday.

On our ramblings through the country there are a great many things come to our notice that we fully intend to make a note of in our next issue, but by the time we return to our office they have all passed from our mind. Only one in a while we remember one or two which we have made a memorandum of, so as not to overlook them, especially when we happen to meet a crowd of boys and girls starting for home in the evening, after spending the day in the country having a jolly good time, so tired they are hardly able to travel the distance home, and by chance meet a couple of wheelmen of whom they ask to borrow their wheel to ride home on. Now we do not know how they all expected to ride the two wheels, and the wheelmen could not either. Not wishing to show partiality to any, they had to decline their services, though they would have liked very much to have accommodated the poor little tired beings.

We will permit our readers to make a guess this time as to who the crowd was, but if we notice it again we think we will have to publish the names. Look out, girls.

Many a summer resort young man would willingly exchange his bathing suit and tennis shoes for a fall overcoat.

FACTS & FICTION

THE ANNUAL PARODY.

Maude Muller (gentle reader here is the parody that comes each year.) Maude Muller on a summer eve, Pinned back her skirt and tucked each sleeve.

She got the hose upon the lawn, And deftly turned the water on. She sprinkled gaily upon the grass, And smiled on those who chanced to pass.

The Judge came walking down the street, And spied Miss Muller trim and neat. He raised his hat to speak to her; His heart with love began to stir.

For Maude was young and fair to see; The Judge was rich as rich could be. Just when he made his graceful bow, The water did not twist somehow; It did not smite him on the ear; It did not fill his soul with fear; It did not swell him in the vest, And knock his garments gaily west; It did not wash him from the spot; No, gentle reader, it did not.

Instead Maude turned the water off Just when his hat he received the doff. The Judge mused softly, "Such as she Is the ideal wife for me!" And Maude mused, "I'll change my name By springing this domestic game."

The Judge proposed; the rest you guess; Maude Muller lost no time with "Yes."

And often now the Judge will dream Of how the setting sun's last gleam Illumined Maude, with the hose, And how his ardent softly rose. And Maude, too, dreams of the eve When, with tucked skirt and rolled up sleeve,

She utilized her cunning tact; And engineered the lawn hose act. And posed there in the twilight dim, And with deft science laded him. Of all true words of tongue or pen, The truest are, "They fool the men."

There will be a total eclipse of the moon on October 16, visible all over North and South America, western portions of Europe and Africa, and in northeast Asia. The eclipse will be a kind of midnight show in North America, as it begins at 11:17 p. m. central time, the east rim of the moon entering the earth's shadow at that time. By 1:50 on the morning of the 17th the shadow will be over. The fifth and last eclipse of the year will be a partial eclipse of the sun on October 31. This eclipse will not be visible in this country.

This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record."

Are These Men Mad?

The coal operators have refused to concede to political intimidation what they denied to violence and outrage.

How is Senator Penrose fallen from his high estate that he appears here the truculent accomplice of rioters and lawbreakers? Has the Governor of this sovereign State of New York lost his senses that he seems to force the compulsion of a felony which strikes not at property, not at the individual, but at the very vitals of Government, the Constitution itself?

In this there is involved no party, no issue, no one's desire to get to office, no question of coal to burn, but the welfare of the nation, the stability of the whole political and social structure.

Are Senators Quay and Penrose devoid of all sense of American patriotism? Can they see no further than the boundaries of their petty and despicable politics? Are they not aware that to succeed in their present endeavor is to court destruction, to pull the pillars out from under the temple and to involve themselves and the country in one vast and irretrievable ruin?

Is there no longer a question shall coal be mined? It is shall the law be defied and submerged utterly; shall riot and bloodshed prevail over it and shall we turn our backs to the flag of the United States.—N. Y. Sun.

BARTON CRUTCHFIELD

Dies at His Home at St. Charles, After a Four Months' Illness.

FOR NEARLY THIRTY YEARS

WITH ST. BERNARD COMPANY.

Superintendent at St. Charles for Sixteen Years—Man With Many Friends.

Barton Crutchfield died Tuesday afternoon, October 14th, 1902, at his home in St. Charles, aged 67 years. He was born in Virginia July 18th, 1848, and came to Kentucky, with his older brothers in the summer of 1868. Barton was the youngest child and Charles Crutchfield, some years his senior, a prominent planter of Trenton, is the only survivor. The old Crutchfield homestead was in Spotsylvania county, near Fredericksburg, Va., and was burned during the war. Mr. Crutchfield came to Earlinton about 1878, and entered the office of the St. Bernard Coal Company, and the connection made with that company has been continuous until his death. In the beginning of the year 1888 he was transferred from the Earlinton office to St. Charles and made superintendent of the company's operations there.

On April 17th, 1880 Barton Crutchfield and Miss Sammie Nisbet were married. The bride being a daughter of Mr. W. W. Nisbet, of Madisonville. The married life of these two happy people was most devoted and to them were born two lovely children, which were a light unto the father's path. For he was most fond of children and children most tenderly recognized him as their friend. Through four months of sore affliction these little ones and the great courage and love of the wife sustained the falling man, for their welfare had ever been his absorbing thought.

Barton Crutchfield was a man of big heart and strong and lasting friendship. His life was an open book with no shadow of hypocrisy, and his life was filled with deeds of helpfulness and charity. His friends were numbered by the hundreds.

Mr. Crutchfield was a mason, a Knight of Pythias, a member of the ancient order of United Workmen and of the Golden Cross. In the latter two orders he carried insurance. The Workmen's lodge of this place, under the command of grand officer Thos. Longstaff, escorted the remains from this residence at St. Charles to the Earlinton cemetery after the services which were conducted by the Rev. E. F. Fowler, of Madisonville, yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

The pallbearers were six men with whom Mr. Crutchfield had long and friendly association at St. Charles. They were George Faulk, Ludlow Flake, Mat Sweeney, William Faulk, George King and Esq. J. P. Fox.

The funeral was attended by a large number of friends and the floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

First Principles.

The "non-union" man's right to work in peace, subject to the law of the land and to no other domination, is sacred beyond comparison with any other claim which the coal famine brings to notice. It would be better for every pound of anthracite in this country to sink beyond our reach than for laborers here to lose the freedom to live and labor guaranteed them by our laws.

The issue presented by the mained and murdered miners cannot sensibly come up until the coal famine is so overwhelming in proportion that it cannot be diminished by recurrence. It is the corner stone of liberty.

Great as the need of coal it is not and cannot be equal to the need of liberty; at least, the half-frozen men who were with Washington at Valley Forge didn't think so.—N. Y. Sun.

PERSONAL MENTION.

O. P. Webb arrived Saturday night from Washington where he had been attending the National Encampment of the G. A. R.

W. N. Martin and Miss Laura Stodell will leave Saturday morning for Washington and friends.

Mrs. Dolly Walker was in Madisonville Monday.

Mrs. Emma Davis was in the county seat Monday.

Jno. X. Taylor, Jas. Sparrow, Tom Smith and Charlie Barnett were in the Elks parade Monday.

Miss Lillie Evans, Lizzie Dean, Edith Rootz, Virge Rule and George Wyatt accompanied by Elsworth Evans, David Cowell and Harry Withers started to Harpersburg Sunday afternoon, but we cannot say with any degree of accuracy whether they reached their destination or not.

Dave Cowell and Harry Withers had a date to call on some young ladies at a certain town, not far distant. They left Earlinton about 7:30 p. m. and drove to the place in fifteen minutes. On reaching the place they found the house dark, the doors locked and the dog chained and the young ladies gone. They came back to Earlinton at 8:30, having made the round trip in one hour.

Miss Mary Egloff left Tuesday morning for Hopkinsville for a few days' visit to her sister, who is sick. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Colwell and baby spent Sunday in Nashville, visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. Yerwood, of Alabama, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Cassing, of Evansville, visited Mrs. Walter Perry, a niece of Mrs. Yerwood, Saturday.

Mrs. W. E. Boyd and children spent the past week with the family of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Winstead at Noto.

David Eudaly visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Eudaly, at Noto, last Tuesday night.

Wat D. Rutherford, who has been sick at his sister's home at Noto the past week, returned to Earlinton Thursday.

Sam Magenheimer was slightly injured in the mine Tuesday, by being thrown from his work against a short wall.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

Secretary of the Navy Moody, in a speech at Madison, Wis., the other day, is quoted as saying that the duty of 67 cents a ton on coal was "smuggled into the tariff act in a sneaking and cowardly manner" and ought to be repealed at the short session of congress. He declared the president could not seize the anthracite lands by the exercise of eminent domain, "and if he could," added Moody, "I should for one resist the latter action to the utmost, for I have seen far too much extravagance of government ownership to want more of it."

Congressman Vincent Boering, president of the Cumberland Valley Land Co., of Standard, Ky., has sold 7,556 acres of coal lands of his company, situated in Harlan county, to the Deering Harvester Company, of Chicago. The price paid was $100,000. It is said that the Deering people will erect several plants on the property and, in future, make their coke for fuel purposes.

Gov. McMillan, of Tennessee, is president of the Capital Coal & Iron Company, which is said to have bought 20,000 acres of coal and iron lands on the N. C. & St. L. Railway, between Bridgeport, Ala., and Pikeville, Tenn. Major Harris, of Nashville, who has just floated $800,000 bonds in New York, says the company will develop the coal immediately and put in from 200 to 300 coke ovens. This property is in the Sequachee Valley, in which valley, near Pikeville, are located the Attonport Coal Co.'s mines, now in operation, which are largely owned here, with the home office of the company located in this place.

It is reported that a deal is on by which Chicago capitalists may get possession of coal lands at Uniontown, for the purpose of further exploration and development.

At Lancaster, Ky., artesian well diggers have drilled through 700 feet of blue limestone and are now in soft soapstone at a depth of over 800 feet.

A cat, scared by a small boy while walking a timber across the opening of a 200-foot shaft at Sturgis, fell to the bottom of the shaft and killed itself against the head of a workman. The workman was stunned.

The propositions submitted early in the conference with the civic federation by Mr. E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board of directors of the Erie railroad, are stated below. The anthracite operators are said to have adhered to these propositions ever since. They are: The anthracite companies do not undertake in the slightest manner to discriminate against members of the United Mine Workers of America, but they do insist that members of that organization shall not discriminate against non-union members of such association.

Second—That there shall be no deterioration in the quantity or quality of the work, and that there shall be no effort to restrict the individual exertions of men who, while working by the ton or car, may for reasons satisfactory to themselves and their employers, produce such a quantity of work as they may desire.

Third—By reason of the different conditions, varying not only with the districts, but with the miners themselves, thus rendering absolutely impossible any thing approaching uniform conditions, each mine must arrange either individually or through its committees, with the superintendents or managers any question affecting wages or grievances.

Louisville has an abundant supply of coal on hand, the recent advance having been made in spite of the fact that there is more "river" coal by 2,000,000 bushels in harbor now than there was at a corresponding time last year. This supply is being added to daily at the rate of nearly 40,000 bushels from the Kentucky mines.

The Marion Mineral Company, opening a new mine on the Flannery dike, near the Holly mines, bids fair to be one of the greatest producing mines in that district. The carbonate zinc showed up to the present time will show a higher percentage of zinc than from any other section of the district. The ore is "heavily all of that high grade of crystallization that assays show runs up in the vicinity of 48 to 50 percent. Horse power is used to raise the ore from the 40 foot drift, two buckets being used.

The breast of the ore 25 feet from the shaft shows a width of 14 feet, the lump carbonate being disseminated through the zinc drift. But one wall has so far been determined. The great extent of the vein's width is as yet unknown, but 11 feet is an extra good vein. Water will be obtained at a further depth of some 25 feet and will be used in "washing what is known as the "waste dirt."

Will Grigg, an employee of No. 11 mine, met with a serious accident on last Monday by being thrown from one of the cars and having his right thigh broken near the hip. Drs. Chatten and Sisk were called and set his leg, but at this time it is hard to tell just how bad his injuries are.

BONE FOOD

A few things that go a long way to making a weekly successful are: Handle local news intelligently; verify every story and then make it interesting; strong; use breezy heading, but don't try to appear brainy; give the names of people visiting in your midst; remember John Smith likes to read of the social given at his home—he doesn't always prefer to read of what is happening among the "upper ten"; church notes interest some people—sporting news others; publish personals and plenty of them; print local news, and do not forget that your neighbors are not all of your tone of mind—neither do they all agree with you in your political ideas.

ENGAGED.

Marriage is very largely an accident. In few cases do men or women set up a standard of manly or womanly excellence and choose by it. In most cases people become engaged as the result of proximity rather than because of any deep rooted preference.

And so it often happens that the obligations of matrimony just as thoughtlessly as they are entered on the marriage relation, because no one well educated has warned her of the dangers she faces.

Thousands of women, because of lack of knowledge of themselves, fall into this large body of women that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes as a precious boon, because it cures womanly ills.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity of the system, builds up the constitution and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong.

"After my first child was born," writes Mrs. J. W. H. of Frederick Co., Va., "my health was very poor for a long time, and I could hardly move without great suffering. I was nearly dead. I tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and a trial of it was greatly relieved, and now after using it for several months, I am well and healthy. I can't see why it is that there are so many suffering women when there is such an easy way to be cured. I know your medicines are the best."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the favorite family laxative. One "bottle" a laxative, two "bottles" a cathartic dose.

Coal and the Tariff.

Mr. Henry Hale, of Jersey City, writes to ask us how it is, if there is no duty on anthracite coal that Welsh coal imported into this country recently paid a tariff duty. If it paid a duty it was because it fell below the standard (percentage of carbon) which marks the difference between our so-called hard coal, non-dutiable, and soft coal, dutiable. In anthracite coal the carbon is usually about 95 per cent. There is no tariff on coal with the percentage (92) of carbon, which makes anthracite coal, as opposed to that coal of lower percentage, known as bituminous or soft coal. Of course, if an importer brings in coal below the anthracite percentage, that is, if he brings in soft coal, he pays a duty, for there is a tariff on such soft coal. If he brings in coal on the anthracite percentage he pays no duty, for there is no tariff on such coal.—New York Press.

COFFEY MURDER CASES

Continued to February Term in Christian Circuit Court.

The cases of the parties charged with the murder of mine guards at the Empire Coal mines last October were called for trial in the Circuit Court at Hopkinsville Monday. The defendants are Francis Drake, Guy Reynolds, Jim Will Anderson, Burnett Wiley and Charles Blackburn. The prosecution moved for a continuance on the grounds that Commonwealth's Attorney W. R. Howell was detained at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Howell, at Julian, who is reported in a dying condition from the effects of a stroke of paralysis. Several important witnesses are also absent. The motion for continuance was sustained and the cases all continued over for trial at the February term of court.

A NEW COMET.

Now Plainly to be Seen Each Evening Without the Use of Glasses.

The new comet discovered at Lick Observatory, San Jose, California, on September 1 by Prof. D. D. Perrine has grown steadily brighter, so he says, and, as predicted, until of the present time it is visible to the naked eye.

For the benefit of those who may care to observe it Prof. Perrine makes the following statement relative to the approximate position: September 28 very close to the second magnitude star Alpha Cassiopeiae it was seen. On September 29 about two degrees south of the star of the second magnitude Beta Cassiopeiae. It then entered upon the Milky way and for several days was not so readily detected. On the 6th of October (Monday) it was three degrees north of Alpha Cygni. At this time the comet is two or three times as bright at the beginning and is plainly to be seen in its position in the heavens. It will continue to move rapidly to the southwest overtaking the sun early in November. Persons wishing to see the heavenly curiosity can find it by searching the north or northwestern sky.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

Surgeon General Walter W. Mann, of the public health and marine hospital, says he enjoys splendid health. He is in excellent condition in great measure to the personal exercise of his colleagues. He is in the line he was in, and is a player, and he points with pride to a crew and finger on his left hand, a relic of his career as a shortstop.

Literary men sometimes do better in a new place than in an old one. Robert Herrick, when driving in the main street of an American town, came upon the name "Lank Sharg" over an undertaker's shop. It was a rather grim jest, but its grimness so tickled him that he decided to adopt it as a pen name.

It has been discovered that Hugo Hohenlohe, a quiet, dignified German who is employed as a bank clerk, is really a prince, being brother of a grand duke who is now chamberlain of the Prussian court. They are consuls at King Edward's court. Prince Hugo is reticent about his private affairs and refuses to say why he sought employment in such a humble capacity. In his "Reminiscences of Food" Goodall tells a story of Wellington as an art connoisseur. He paid Willie 600 guineas for his "Chesna Penicillio" and laboriously counted out the amount in cash. When the artist suggested that it would be less trouble to write a check the great duke retorted that he would not let his bankers know "what a fool I have been to spend 600 guineas for a picture."

Arthur Balfour is the first bachelor premier of England since the time of William Pitt. Lord Kitchener, England's most notable soldier, Lord Milner, her leading administrator, and the bishop of London, then whom few if any are more prominent in England, have all been married. An American who has resided for long time in London has given these men the nickname "big four."

Maxim Gorki, the celebrated Russian novelist, was for years little better than a tramp. At 15 he ran away from home, and up to the age of 25 he scarcely had sufficient food to keep him alive. He worked alternately as a day laborer, a sawyer, a cook and a lighterman. "I have heard that free instruction could be obtained at home, and having no money to pay for his journey, he walked there—a distance of over 600 miles.

PUZZLED THE SECRETARY.

He Couldn't Pick Out the Senator's "Joke" from the Great Man's Resolute Answer.

The senator came out of his private office and faced the young man at the writing table. In his left hand he loosely held a bunch of writing paper, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Mr. Acting Secretary," he said in his abrupt way, "I want to try the effect of this little speech on you. Are you alone?"

"Quite alone," replied the young man.

"It has been stated by an influential eastern press," remarked the senator, "that I joke with difficulty."

"I have noticed something of the kind," ventured the young man. Then he hastily added: "I mean in the past passage."

"And do you agree with these criticisms?"

"Certainly not," replied the senator as he glanced at the closely written sheets.

"Now listen, I am going to read a few selections from this speech, some of them serious, some humorous, and I want to see if you can tell me which is which. Do you understand?"

"I hope I can," said the young man, and he turned his chair half round so as to face the eminent statesman.

"All ready, then," said the senator, and with many gestures from his disengaged arm he hurriedly read a somewhat lengthy sentence.

Suddenly he stopped.

"How's that?" he demanded.

"The young man's face beamed with delight."

"It's awfully bright," he chuckled; "they'll laugh at that all right."

"What?" roared the senator. "That isn't humorous. That's all serious. I didn't want to be humorous at the very start."

"Of course not," faltered the unhappy young man.

"Here," said the senator, "I'll try you again." And he hastily read another passage.

"That's serious all right," said the young man, with great confidence. "That will set them to thinking."

"Serious?" roared the senator. "What's the matter with you? That's the funniest paragraph in the whole speech. Well, go on, and get into the game. Here, I'll give you a last chance."

The unhappy young man wiped his brow on his coat sleeve and drew a long breath.

Again the senator rapidly read a selection, and again he abruptly paused.

"Now, what's that?" he shouted.

The young man gasped.

"It's that," he stammered. "Why, that's a composite."

The senator scowled down at him. "Composite be jingo!" he wildly roared, and hid himself in his private room with a portentous clank of the door.

An Emulous Thinker.

Prof. A.—Do you think he has really missed the subject?

Prof. B.—Oh, yes, yes! He has gone so far in it that all conclusions he has reached are practically useless.—Judge.

Decadence of Billiards in France.

LESSON III, FOURTH QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, OCT. 10.

Text of the Lesson, John, vi, 5-20. Memory Verse, 20—Golden Text, 12b, 13. At 20—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. N. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.)

The title of the lesson is the fall of Jericho, and the verses assigned are as above or only verses 12 to 20, but we suggest less than this whole chapter, with a glance at the preceding chapter and its connection with the previous lesson, in which we saw the hand of the Lord dividing the Jordan for Israel to cross over, that all people might know and fear Him for their good. In chapter V we saw the rise of circumcision and the ordinance of the Passover, the one suggestive of death to the flesh, no good thing in us, and the other of redemption by the blood of the Lamb. Until thus the reproach of sin and of this evil world be taken from us (v. 6). In v. 12, we read that the manna ceased not until they had eaten the corn of the land, and the Lord changes not, yet some cannot trust Him for their daily bread. In v. 13-15, we see the real Captain taking command and Joshua submissively taking his right reins, instructed by the manna, that the whole affair was the Lord's and not his. Compare Ex. 15, 5, and contrast Josh. 1, 3. Now, in chapter VI we have the victory at Jericho by the same mighty hand that divided the Red sea and the Jordan, and it was manifest to all that the Lord was with Joshua, 57.

14.—And the Lord said unto Joshua, See, I have given into thine hand Jericho. Then He assured him, and then instructed him just what to do and told him what would happen, and, however unlikely or improbable it seemed, faith accepted the assurance and expected the result.

4, 7.—And Joshua, the son of Nun, called the priests and said unto them, Take up the ark of the covenant. The Lord wants a willing and obedient people on which to depend, and through whom He can show His power (Isa. 1, 10; II Canon, xvi, 9). If we were only willing to be counted foolish by the wisdom of the world, then we could have the power of God would be seen in us.

4, 11.—Do the ark of the Lord compared the city, going about it once, and they came into the camp and lodged in the camp.

Both Joshua and all the priests and the people perfectly obedient to the Great Captain of the Lord's host: Implicit faith and unquestioning obedience are what God desires and deigns in. No voice of man was heard, but just the obedient of the troops as they marched this first time around the city, probably gazed upon in wonder by those in the city, who may have assumed on the work to see this strange sight. What was accomplished? Seemingly nothing. But they obeyed God, and that is everything.

13-14.—And the second day they compassed the city once and returned into the camp. So they did six days. Seven priests with seven trumpets, a perfect testimony to the power of the movement which shall go on to the complete overthrow of all enemies, and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father (Rev. xvi, 14; Phil. ii, 11). The ark proclaims the righteousness which God demands and provides, and Isa. xxxiii, 1, He proclaims that a King shall reign in righteousness and the work of righteousness shall be peace. It may seem to some that as little is now being accomplished as was accomplished by these six days seemingly foolish and useless processions, but wait.

15.—M. Joshua said unto the people, Fear, for the Lord hath given the city into our hands.

16.—The next morning around the city with no sound but that of the trumpets; twelve times in all, and seemingly nothing accomplished, but God's time has now come. It is the thirteenth round when at Joshua's command the more than 600,000 voices break forth with a shout of victory because they believed God and obeyed His servant.

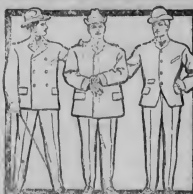

17-18.—All the silver and gold and vessels of brass and iron are holiness unto the Lord (Lev. xvi, 17).

Therefore they were instructed not to take any for themselves, but to put all into the treasury of the Lord, while they utterly destroyed all the inhabitants except Rahab and her household.

The wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and they took the city.

Just as the Lord had said it came to pass, and it always will be so, for we are His people. The verses following tell us that all the living in the city, both man and beast, were utterly destroyed except Rahab and her household.

The New Testament record of the overthrow of Jericho and the salvation of Rahab is summed up in the few lines of Heb. x, 30, 31, and in God is the heart of it. The evidence of her faith and the assurance of her safety were the scarlet line in her window (chapter ii, 15, 20, 21), and it is so very interesting and suggestive that the Hebrew word translated "line" is the identical word which in the Septuagint is translated "expectation" and "hope." Her expectation or hope was a scarlet one, and it was a sure one, and so the believer's expectation is as sure as the blood of Christ can make it. As all in Rahab's household were saved by her faith, let your faith be the blood of God for all your household.

A PROVISIONAL CAPITAL.

The Venezuelan Government is Now, From Necessity, of a Moveable Variety.

GEN. CASTRO IN A CRITICAL CONDITION.

He is reported as surrounded by revolutionists under General Matos Mendonza, Peraza and Miera, near La Victoria, and fighting in progress.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Oct. 15.—The government of Venezuela, owing to the fact that the revolutionists might make a night attack on Curacao, and in view of the fact that Vice-President Vicente Gomez left that city Monday morning, with all the troops available—800 men—to reinforce President Castro, has been transferred to the "provisional capital" of Venezuela, in the Guayana district, surrounding Los Teques without any town or village being stipulated in the headquarters of the ministers.

Consequently, the seat of the government may be in a railroad car or in some other place making it a general public. The Venezuelan government was also actuated in this matter by a desire not to reply to the questions of the revolutionists, who have been daily asking for redress as the result of injuries inflicted on the persons or property of citizens of the countries which they represent.

The latest news from La Victoria, where an important engagement took place Monday morning, foreign ministers of the army of President Castro and the forces commanded by Gen. Matos Mendonza, Peraza and Miera state that President Castro was surrounded by revolutionists and that his position was critical.

CASTRO'S CRITICAL POSITION.

Everything indicates that the Venezuelan President is in a precarious situation.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—The dispatches from Willemstad announcing the apparent critical position of President Castro, of Venezuela, were communicated to the foreign office here, which had been expecting such news, but which has not yet received confirming dispatches. The German government, President Castro, according to official intelligence, has been growing precarious and his ultimate downfall is here considered probable. The reason why the German claims against Venezuela have not been pressed for settlement is that the government of Germany is waiting until a new administration is formed, capable of carrying out the terms of settlement.

Seven Chicago Children Overlaid Upon by the Surgeon Brought From Vienna By Armorer.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Before an audience that crowded the amphitheater at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Monday, Prof. Adolf Lorenz, of Vienna, conducted the largest class ever held in Chicago, and perhaps in America. The surgeon performed seven operations for congenital dislocation of the hip, or three more than he had ever treated in one day. All the patients were children, and all were suffering from the affliction which Prof. Lorenz came to America to treat in little Lilly Arnold, a patient after patient was rolled in, already under chloroform, and the eminent surgeon turned from one to the other and performed the operation with a deftness and dispatch that held the audience spellbound.

THE STRIKE MAY SOON END.

The Presidents of the Coal Carrying Roads Propose a Commission of Five to Adjust Differences.

Washington, Oct. 14.—By authority of Mr. J. P. Morgan, who, with his partner, Robert Bacon, and Secretary Root, were in conference with President Roosevelt at the temporary white house, Monday night, for an hour and a half, a statement was given out by Secretary Cortelyou, in which the presidents of the coal-carrying railroads and nine operators propose a commission of five persons to adjust the differences and settle the coal strike in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. The proposition is believed by the administration to be satisfactory to the miners, as it covers the proposition made by President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers' union, with additional conditions which it is believed the miners will accept.

While no official statement was made at the White House after the operators' address was made public by Secretary Cortelyou, the opinion was expressed that the way is now open for a complete settlement of the strike, and that the mines would soon be in operation once more.

New Orleans, Oct. 15.—The strike of street railway employes which has effectively blocked traffic on all city lines for two weeks, was settled Sunday morning, when the union and the company unanimously accepting the governor's ultimatum on a secret ballot. Negotiations which began Saturday night continued until seven o'clock Sunday morning, when the executive board finally determined to submit the matter to a general settlement of the union Sunday afternoon. The basis of settlement is that the men will go back to work in the morning at 50 cents and ten hours, with a minimum of 7½ cents a day, no discrimination to be made against any of the men under charges, and as many as are needed for the operation of the company's lines. The high Sunday morning was on the taking back of the men under charges, but this was not the first concession this, allowing the courts to decide the guilt of the men.

THREE MASKED ROBBERD.

They Held Up the Pacific Express On the Burlington, Near Lincoln, Nebraska.

THE ADAMS EXPRESS CAR WRECKED.

The Safe Blown to Pieces and the Valuable Contents Carried Off by the Robbers—A Passenger With Bloodstains, Taken by the Trail at the Scene.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 13.—Three masked men held up Burlington train No. 41, the Pacific express, four miles out of Lincoln, shortly before two o'clock Saturday morning. They used explosives on the express car, shattering it badly, and, after wrecking the train, they rifled it of its contents, securing $30,000.

Train 41 reaches Lincoln at 12:55 p.m. and leaves for the northwest ten minutes later.

The two men were in the car on the crest of a hill, midway between the city and the town of Woodlawn, the engineer saw a red light waved across the track and brought the train to a standstill. Two men sprang quickly into the cab, covering Clayburg and his fireman with revolvers. They had no time in giving their orders and were just as promptly obeyed. The express car was cut from the balance of the train and ran ahead a short distance. They found the door locked and, after commanding Messenger William Lupton to open it, and setting up a response, fired two or three shots into the car. The door was then opened.

A heavy charge of dynamite on the floor literally tore it to pieces. Fourteen packages, said to contain a hundred dollars each, were taken, together with other valuables.

The two men were in the car, the police bade the trainmen good morning, jumped from the car and disappeared in the darkness. The passengers were not molested, nor were the trainmen asked for their belongings.

The robbers were cool, talkative and apparently experts. The whole job occupied scarcely an hour. The train was run back to Lincoln, the car was taken out and, at four o'clock the train resumed the journey, the original crew going out.

Following it was an engine carrying Chief-of-Police Hoagland, Detective Malone and his two bloodhounds and three police officers.

Bloodhounds on the Trail.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 12.—The man hunt in southeastern Nebraska began Sunday, and the four highwaymen who held up the Burlington train near Lincoln early Saturday morning were seemingly distanced their pursuers. The heavy rain which fell Saturday night and the drizzle up to noon Sunday made the following of the robbers even with bloodhounds out of the question. The Burlington railroad detectives and Lincoln policemen were hunting about in Cass county Saturday and Sunday night, abandoned the search and returned here Sunday morning. Officers in every town that the robbers might visit are on the lookout, but at Burlington headquarters the statement was made that there is no arrest was made on the day. A house near Raymond, Neb., is declared to be a rendezvous of thieves and hard characters, and some of its occupants have been charged with harboring the robbers.

The theory is that after the hold up the robbers drove rapidly to this place and were kept in hiding by their friends during the day. One of the Raymond men whom it is thought may have some knowledge of the hold up, although not actively connected with it, was seen in the vicinity of the robbery Friday. He but recently completed a term in the penitentiary, the police say.

JUST SAVES HIS APPEAL.

Julius Lehmann, Another of the St. Louis Fugitives, Captured By a Deputy Sheriff.

IS JUST IN TIME TO SAVE HIS APPEAL.

He is Under Sentence of Two Years for Perjury, and Was Out on Bond of $10,000 Pending Appeal to the Supreme Court—Case Would Have Lapsed Tuesday.

St. Louis, Oct. 14.—Former Delegate Julius Lehmann, fugitive under charges of bribery and under sentence on conviction of perjury, was captured at 11:45 o'clock Sunday night by Deputy Sheriff Thomas E. Dwyer, on Natural Bridge road, and is now a prisoner at the St. Louis jail. There was a reward of $500 for Lehmann's capture.

Dwyer saw Lehmann walking along, apparently in the direction of his home on North Twenty-third street, and arrested him. Lehmann made no objection to arrest, saying that he was on his way to surrender, but desired to pass the night at his home.

He asked the deputy for the privilege of spending the night at home, but was refused, and he was taken to the jail, where he was held overnight.

Whether Lehmann intended surrendering, or was waiting for the night of the day to save himself from going forthwith to the penitentiary in case of his arrest at any time later than Tuesday, the date set for his appearance before the supreme court on his appeal from the circuit court, which would have amounted to two years in the penitentiary on conviction of perjury before the grand jury.

Had he not appeared the supreme court would have affirmed the circuit court's finding and Lehmann would have been committed to prison immediately upon capture, without further trial.

"I have not arranged any bond," he said, "and have not asked anybody to go on my bond. I expect to stay in jail."

"I have never had any intention of running away," St. Louis is my home. All my interests are here, and I can leave. I just didn't want to go to jail. I wanted to keep out of jail as long as I could, but that's what I didn't surrender sooner."

"I was not out of the city at all," he said, "and was not far away at any time." He was not out of the city at all, and was not far away at any time.

"I was out of the city, too, at the time of the last indictment, on a fishing trip. I heard of it, and concluded I'd have a little fishing and hunting and finish my sport. I got through fishing and came into the city."

Lehmann said that he made no effort to hide from the city, as he couldn't throw his bondsman in the air," referring to the men on his $10,000 appeal bond.

IN THE INTEREST OF THE

..Woman's Christian Temperance Union..

Edited by a White Ribboner.

We wish every reader of this department who is a friend of temperance would consider this a personal letter addressed to yourself soliciting your subscription to the New Voice, a weekly journal, published in Chicago at $1.50 a year and edited by that fearless leader of the temperance movement, John G. Woolley.

The New Voice is universally conceded the strongest, bravest and ablest temperance periodical the world has ever known. Every minister of the Gospel of Christ should place it side by side with his church paper, for it is not the liquor traffic the greatest foe to the cause of Christ that exists on earth?

Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," has just commenced a new serial in the New Voice, entitled "The Narrow Gate," which gives great promise of being as strong as "In His Steps." After reading the paper a short time you will wonder how you ever did without it.

By special arrangement the editor of this department is allowed to receive subscriptions for a short time at $1 a year. You can leave your order at the Bee office or direct to Box 98, Madisonville, Ky. The cash must always accompany the order.

Doses of alcohol which correspond to a glass of wine or a pint of German beer are sufficient to paralyze, retard or disturb all the central cerebral functions.—August Forel, M. D.

Mrs. Carrie A. Lehman, representative of the Central Howard Association for the state of Kentucky, gave an exceedingly interesting address at Madisonville, last Thursday evening.

The Association is named by John Howard, the great English philanthropist, and has its headquarters in the city of Chicago. The object of the Association is first "To awaken public sentiment in behalf of the worthy ex-prisoners," and also seeks to improve the conditions of prison life, to aid the ex-convict in securing honorable employment and making a new start in the world, and as far as possible, to see that women prisoners are protected from improper and indecent treatment from indecent officers of the law.

Mrs. Lehman gave a most effective account of the work accomplished by the association. She related many personal incidents showing not only the brutality of some of the officers, but also the great temptations to which all prisoners are subjected. She has visited hundreds of jails and prisons and was constrained to say that it would be difficult to find a jail where less attention was given in its construction to the moral needs of its inmates, than the plan on which the jail in Hopkins county had been built.

Mrs. Lehman is a very earnest speaker and impresses you at once with her sincerity and her consecration to the work in which she is engaged.

Science has established that alcohol destroys first and most those parts which are most delicate and most recently developed. These are those wonderfully delicate brain cells upon whose proper formation the difference between men and beasts chiefly depends.—Dr. Franz Schönbender, Berlin, Germany.

At the Nebraska W. O. T. U. State Convention recently held, Mrs. Matilda B. Carre, president of the Board of Temple Trustees, was present and gave an address in behalf of the Woman's Temple. On rising to speak she was greeted with applause and the Chatauqua salute. The Nebraska W. O. T. U. has always been loyal to Mrs. Carre and the Temple.

That the tobacco habit should be taken up early in youth, with the nervous system in perfect condition, and a disease deliberately invited that makes the highest sense of comfort impossible except drawn through a cigar—that such a habit should be deliberately formed when there is not the least sense of any want for its soothing effects, is a numinous anomaly. No tobacco user has ever had the supremest use of his brain.—E. H. Dewey, M. D.

Lady Isabel Somerset, of England, who succeeded Miss Willard as president of the World's W. C. T. U., arrived at New York October 6. She will attend the National W. C. T. U. convention at Portland, Maine, and also visit some of the larger cities of the United States and Canada.

October 10 was very generally observed throughout the country by the Catholic Temperance Societies as "Father Matthew day."

A liquor dealer lately advertised for a bartender who "must be a total abstainer." The National Temperance Advocate comments upon this that it is like advertising for a barber who never had his hair cut, and pertinently adds, "What other business finds it necessary or desirable to advertise for help pledged to make no use of the goods sold? Can it be that the liquor traffic has found its followers so demoralized that it is obliged to draw upon temperance or total abstinence fanatics to continue its business?"

A Minister Who Does Not Fear to Call a Spade a Spade.

Rev. Louis Albert Bangs, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, New York City, and in the pulpit, referring to the tragedy of Nicholas Fish, "The wine glass leaves a shining mark. A banker, who was the son of a Secretary of State, a college man, a graduate from Harvard and Columbia, a man of great wealth and social position, is killed in a drunken brawl where he had been drinking with women, not of his own family, in a liquor saloon. A bright, intelligent gentleman goes to his death like a dog, in an ordinary saloon, and it was his love for the wine glass that slew him.

"True, another drunken man, spurred on no doubt by the presence of drunken women, struck the fatal blow, but in both the slayer and his victim, it was the wine glass that did it.

"Young men, and older men, too, will do well to take this tragic occurrence to heart. I suppose this banker did not count himself a drunkard. No doubt he would have been insulted had anybody spoken of him as such. He would have called himself a moderate, respectable drinker.

"All drunkards have been recruited from the ranks of respectable, moderate drinkers.

"Women, too, should find their message in this heart-breaking tragedy. Three married women, who pretend, at least, that they did not compromise themselves by doing so, were drinking in a liquor saloon with the slayer and the slain.

"Modern society has become too much like a pie. The upper crust is soggy with beer, but the middle of the pie has been quite decent and wholesome. God save us if the middle-class American mother becomes a drunkard. The woman who drinks as well as the man, is a most dangerous member of the community. So far as anyone can see, this tragedy would not have occurred if it had not been for the presence of these women in the saloon.

"The wine glass is the fell destroyer of the earth today. Nothing in manhood or womanhood is too beautiful to escape its polluting and devastating hand. Compared to its desolation, the lives lost in the Spanish-American war are as nothing.

"When will American courage arise to stay the wine glass?"

Thomas Sharkey in prison said: "If Mr. Fish had not been drinking and I had been sober, there would not have been any trouble, and Mr. Fish would be alive and I out of the Tomb."

Honors for E. B. Bourland.

Lexington Herald. The Press Congress of Kentucky University Publishing Company held its regular semi-annual meeting in Morrison Chapel yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. President Russell presided. Mr. J. C. Ogden, who was manager of the Transylvanian last year made his annual report.

The election of the staff of the Transylvanian for the current year resulted as follows:
E. B. Bourland, editor-in-chief; J. C. Ogden, manager; D. B. Good, alumni editor; Miss Tillie Nichols and John T. Vance, Jr. local editors; Miss Claire Phillips, exchange editor. Each of the six Literary Societies had representatives.

Vendome Stock Company.

The Vendome Stock Company of Nashville will play at Temple theatre the night of Oct. 28. Secure your seat early as there will be a scramble for seats on show night.

The St. Bernard meat shop is undergoing repairs. A new shed is being built out front.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

A. B. BELSHIE, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it is possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stimulates the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

GREAT ISLES OF THE NORTH.

Canada's Title to Those in the Arctic Waters is a Matter of Serious Doubt.

Canada's title to the immense island areas in the Arctic waters north and east of the dominion proper has lately been called in question. These areas contain the copper and other metals, and some of them may yet prove as valuable as the Yukon itself.

There are hundreds of islands, some as large as England and Ireland, says the San Francisco Bulletin. One of them, Baffin Land, is some 1,100 miles in length and 560 miles across at its widest part. Half of Baffin Land lies at the head of the Hudson bay and is divided from that enormous sea almost unpopulated section of Canada known as Labrador by Hudson Strait.

There are large islands in the strait itself between Baffin Land and Labrador and some in the northern part of Hudson bay between the main land and Labrador. The rest of the islands are contiguous to northern Canada in the Arctic ocean. These waters are frequented by American whalers, the owners of which have established permanent fishery stations far apart in various directions. The question of sending Canadian officials into these unpopulated parts to form them into provincial districts of Canada and exercise regular jurisdiction over them has been frequently mooted of late years and may be shortly carried into effect.

Attention was called to the subject at the last Ontario land surveyors' convention. A recommendation was adopted to memorialize the Dominion government to take formal possession of the unorganized country on behalf of Great Britain. It was declared that the peninsula and archipelago north of Canada in the Arctic ocean were known to possess considerable undeveloped mineral wealth and might be claimed by some other power.

THE LONDON TWANG.

It is Much More Common Among the Young Than Among the Older Englishmen.

Among the evils of the world which the education will most infallibly do away with, is that painful and inexplicable mystery, the cockney twang. But it is a remarkable fact that the well-known cockney habit of pronouncing 'a' and 'i' is much more common among the young than it is among the middle-aged while among the veterans of London it is hardly known at all, says the London Globe. One can find the average London working man of 60 or 70 without detecting the slightest lapse into this distressing habit indeed, the old London cockney talks very often in the grand style, with a fine dignity of rolling syllables and a singularly clear enunciation. Among the middle-aged the twang is noticeable, but among the young it is obvious in every word they utter. Precisely the same may be said of the South London accent. It is not in the suburban resident, but in his sons and daughters, that we detect the evil. First while it would seem that the twang and the accent are both of recent growth and, by the same token, that the present board schools are powerless to arrest their progress. Mr. Samuel Weller experienced trouble with his 'w's,' clipped his 'would' into 'ul,' and occasionally said "coo" when he intended to say "because." But he never spoke of a "bity," and never said "abahrt." The origin of this modern twang is a matter difficult to determine; the great thing is to arrest its growth before it becomes universal.

Foundation of Skeletons.

It has been discovered that the great city of London rests on a foundation of skeletons—hundreds of thousands of skeletons that extend east and west, north and south, from boundary to boundary of the city, the metropolis, and beyond. There they lie, compressed into a compact mass by the superimposed clay, gravel, sand and surface structures. These skeletons were once the framework of human beings—beings that were the most simple multilithic and animal known as sponges. Many thousands of years ago, when the great sea ebbed and flowed where London now stands, these metazoan organisms, these cities of cells, these Venices, with their thousands of canals, lived and did their unconscious part in the great plan of evolution. Now the life is gone, the cells are crushed, the canals are closed, and only the frames of flint, compressed into a homogeneous mass, remain—Science.

Lost City Located.

The site of the pre-Incian city, Mascouton, which was reported as having 20,000 inhabitants in 1675, has been determined by the labors of Thomas Gilmer, of Portage, Wis., now extended over many years. It was the largest city in all Indian territory, so far as United States territory is concerned, and the descriptions of the Jesuits in the course of the seventeenth century, closing with the discovery of the site in 1875, are said to have been verified.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

The condition of conductor Sam Ingram is not much improved. He is having quite a serious time on account of the accident received at Hopkinsville. The H. D. boys should go to see him and see if they can not be of some assistance.

Supt. J. W. Logsdon was in the city for several hours Saturday. He says business was never better and is constantly increasing on this division. Mr. Logsdon thinks business will be much heavier than usual this winter.

Dispatcher Griffin says he will make some young lady a good husband if he can find some girl who is willing to be a railroad man's wife.

Copier McKeown is very anxious to get acquainted with a certain young lady in the city, but the fates have forbidden thus far.

There were six sections of No. 67 the other night and the prospect is good for more.

Another one of the railroad boys will be married the 23 of this month. Guess who it is?

We are sorry to hear of operator Givens losing out at Madisonville. That ham at Nashville is always getting some one in trouble.

No more smoking on sleepers goes on the Vandalia lines. If a passenger wants to smoke he must tie himself to the buffet car to enjoy his perfect. The road holds that smoking in sleepers is bad from a sanitary point of view, and takes up too much valuable space. The buffet cars will be provided with wicker chairs and every convenience for the smoking fraternity.

Mr. J. W. Hamby, of the Henderson division has been engineer on the E. & G. several days this week during the absence of Capt. Hampton, who has been indisposed. Mr. Hamby was the first fireman on the E. & G. road many years ago.

It is reported that the Lexington & Eastern Railroad will be extended from Jackson to Letcher county, about forty-five miles, to open up coal fields. J. R. Barr is chief engineer, Lexington, Ky.

The Knoxville, LaFollette & Jellico Railroad has filed an amendment to its charter in order to build a branch line in Anderson county to Oliver Springs.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad has purchased the Harman & Northeastern, and will extend it about twenty miles to connect with the Knoxville, LaFollette & Jellico Railroad.

The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway is reported to be considering plans to build a belt railway at Chattanooga.

Miss Dixon, a young lady from the St. Louis division is now working as night operator at Henderson.

Mrs. Ira Shaupe, who was the wife of operator Tom Shane, of the I. C., has written a charming story of railroad life in this issue of the "Cosmopolitan" entitled "How No. 4 was Saved." The scene is laid on the I. C. between Jackson, Tenn., and Water Valley, Miss. The story is interesting and fascinating and the railroad boys should secure this number of the Cosmopolitan and read it.

Operator Larkin is holding down the day office at Madisonville.

Ask Copier McKeown if he ever fell off a wheel going up hill.

Dispatcher Jno. Deveny went to Evansville Sunday to visit home folks.

Conductor Shelton was out at church Sunday night and there was room for several more of the boys.

There are several tents and camping outfits across the track opposite the Arboretum. We understand they are civil engineers in the employ of the L. & N. and are making a survey with the intention of lowering the grades along the line.

The Illinois Central railroad has been used for $40,000 damages for injuries to several people who foolishly walked upon a long railroad bridge at Dawson Springs last summer and were overtaken by a fast freight. The party that took this desperate risk were excursionists who had come on a special train, run by the Illinois Central for the pleasure of Paducah employees who de-aired a day's outing at the Springs.

The Louisville & Nashville railroad has awarded contract for construction of the proposed North Alabama railroad, to begin work at once. It will open up valuable coal fields in its 32 miles length. The contract price is said to be about $750,000.

The National Railroad of Mexico, of which Mr. J. G. Metcalfe, formerly general manager of the Louisville & Nashville, is now the president, has adjusted the wages of its engineers and conductors by an average advance of 15 percent. The basis of the request for advance was that silver had so depreciated in Mexico that living was much higher and the men needed the advance.

There is some trouble yet unsettled with the firemen, but trains are running.

It is said there is a great demand for section men competent to fill the position of section foreman. Men of better qualifications than formerly are needed because of the use of larger locomotives, increased speed, etc.

The news that a coal trust is being organized in England sends an extra shiver down the spine of the man who has a big yawning furnace in the cellar of his house.

Judging from his rasping views on the management of the coal trust, it is a safe guess that Uncle Russell Sage hasn't got his winter's supply of coal in yet.

SHE WAS SO ARROGANT.

Said She Was "One of the Directors' Wives," and the Little Conductor Got Even.

She boarded the car at Fourteenth street and disposed her ample person over at least two seats; then she stared haughtily as though seeking to discover if the car held any spirit intrepid enough to question her right to do so.

Nearly all the passengers read the challenge aright, and their answering glances were charged with good-natured indifference. This was simply maddening to the intrepid "grande dame." She would show those upstarts with whom they had the honor of riding.

"Conductor," she called, "let me off at Twenty-ninth street."

The keen-looking little Irishman who wore the company's uniform promised to do so.

"And don't you carry me past it, either," pursued the virago. "If you do, I'll make trouble for you."

The conductor took the rest of the passengers into his confidence, says the New York Times, through the medium of an all-embracing smile. "As you needn't get fresh about it as girls, either," she continued, "I'll have you understand I've got something to say about this road. I'm one of the director's wives."

"Was of his wives, did she say?" asked the conductor, as he reached the back platform. "Why, I didn't think they allowed that any more—ever in Utah."

Cross and Sweetbread Sailed. After parbolling the sweetbread, remove skin, break into small pieces, mix with mayonnaise dressing and juice before serving stir through it a few sprigs of watercress and one-half cupful of green peas, which have been thoroughly cooked. Serve in usual way.—Washington Star.

Cold Water Cakes. Two eggs beaten very light, one pint cold water, one teaspoon salt; four enough to make as thick as fritters; bake thoroughly in small tin filled full in a hot oven half an hour. To be eaten with butter.—Good Housekeeping.
